

Smartphone Applications

Many people these days have bought into the “smartphone” market, owning iPhones or Android platform-based phones. On these types of phones the owners can purchase applications (“apps”) that perform various functions.

Applications can be informative, fun, news-worthy, educational, directional, silly, entertaining and inspiring. Applications can be used to track a diet plan, a running regimen, follow the news of the day, keep ahead of the weather and play games, music, movies and more.

As an RV'er, there are applications that have been developed specifically with you in mind. Here are a few examples:

Trip Journal Lite (Android and iPhone markets)

This application can be used to track and document your trip and share it with friends and family in real time.

Oh, Ranger! Park Finder (iPhone market only)

This application will find a national park near any location you provide. You can also pick what activities you would like to participate in and the application will find a park where those activities are available (i.e. bicycling, fishing, hiking, horseback riding, and RVing).

National Parks Companion (iPhone market only)

This application will list all parks in the National Park Service. It includes information on how to contact the park, park fees and links to the parks' websites.

This particular application is not available on the Android market, but most of the national parks have their own applications that are available in the Android and iPhone markets.

RV Parks (Android market only)

This application has over 19,000 RV parks listed including detailed information number and types of sites, contact phone numbers, and reviews from other RV'ers.

Camp Finder (Android and iPhone markets)

This application gives access to a wide range of information on 14,000 campgrounds and RV parks in the US. You can search for campgrounds or RV parks by name, city, state or current location. It also provides detailed information on the parks and reviews by former guests.

GasBuddy.com (Android and iPhone markets)

This application helps you find the gas prices around you wherever you are. Gas prices are available for US and Canada.
